MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT WILSON

Treats Labor Unrest Superficial Condition

WARNING TO THE I. W. W. FROM EX- SERVICE MEN

James J. Bell, post of the Legion of Honor, has come on record with reference to the I. W. W. in response to the question which there cannot be any misunderstanding. These resolutions adopted last night, are as follows:

As one of the many disturbances throughout the United States, these resolutions recently coming to a head by the murder of several members of the American Legion at Centralia, Wash., by a lawless and anti-social organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World, and whereas, the American Legion is composed of men whose Americanism can never be questioned and whose loyalty never needs to be defended, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Elmer J. Bell post No. 2 of the American Legion at Tonopah, Nevada, goes on record as being positively opposed to the organization known as the I. W. W. and being in full sympathy with the action taken by the American Legion at Centralia, Wash., and be it further

Resolved, that by the cowardly action shown by the members of the I. W. W. in Centralia that organization has proved beyond a question of a doubt that their personnel is made up of murderers, and inasmuch as this town of Tonopah has been threatened by men professing allegiance to the I. W. W., therefore be it further

Resolved, that the members of the American Legion residing in the vicinity of Tonopah join together for the purpose of taking a decisive action should the head of this reptile again show above the surface in this community.

DIVIDE X CUTS SHOOT ON 200

Insiders admitted today that the ore shoot on the Divide Ext. which carried phenomenal values on the 100-foot level, had been picked up on the 200-foot level. There was no anxiety to give out any official confirmation beyond stating that the assay returns received at noon today were favorable. The market did not reflect any decided improvement as quotations were softer toward the close notwithstanding strong supporting orders. Opening at $1.40, the stock advanced under strong buying pressure to $1.70 and then reacted on profit taking which brought the closing quotation down to $1.55 on sales of $9,400 shares.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.) DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—Patrick O'Brien of Rella Meath, hid his rifle and revolver ammunition inside a statue of St. Joseph in his bedroom, according to witnesses who testified at O'Brien's trial by courtmartial here. The witness said they found 127 rounds of cartridges inside the statue and that they discovered two bombs in a coal box in O'Brien's quarters. Judgment was reserved.

Cotton seed, when roasted, will make good coffee, is the latest discovery of science.

Reds May Drive Allies From Eastern Siberia

(Associated Press.) TOKYO, Dec. 2.—The eastward march of bolshevik forces in Siberia has developed suddenly into a serious problem for Japan which is gravely occupying official circles and which probably soon will be discussed with the American government. The convention by which the allies have operated in eastern Siberia may be menaced by the bolsheviks.

STORES CLOSED FOR WANT COAL

(Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, Dec. 2.—Sweeping conservation measures were issued by the southwest regional coal committee today. They include restricting the hours of all retail stores except drug stores and residential district grocery stores to between the hours of 8 and 5 daily.

(Associated Press.) SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—Orders putting into effect conditions of the labor act regulating coal distribution, were sent today to mine owners and dealers in Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and California. The orders become effective tomorrow.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR A GASSING

George H. Coll's claim for damages aggregating $55,589 against the Gold Reef Mining company is on trial today in the district court where counsel are engaged in selecting a jury. The following were in the box at 2 o'clock: Thomas E. Prout, John W. Mashburn, Mike Rowe, Charles E. Lloyd of Manhattan, Mrs. Stella Toland, James B. Murphy, E. E. Lawson, Denis H. Hill, Clarence Wernae, George Coslett, Martin Evanson and A. P. Kanfers. Plaintiff alleges that he was gassed in the Gold Reef shaft through neglect of the company in not providing for a proper circulation of air by installing ventilating appliances.

SNOWFALL PREDICTED WITHOUT LOCAL SIGNS

Snow is predicted for tonight and tomorrow in spite of local atmospheric conditions which forecast fair weather. This is based on a rising barometer and the strong southeast wind that has been blowing for two days does not show any signs of slackening. The storm suspected of heading this way is probably the one that has raged around Reno and the northern part of the state for two days. At 2 o'clock this afternoon a perceptible thaw set in and reports were favorable for milder weather.

MISSOURIAN MADE COMMERCE SECRETARY

(Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Congressman Joshua Alexander of Gallatin, Mo., has been selected by President Wilson for secretary of commerce, succeeding William Redfield.

SAYS PEACE TREATY IS SURE CURE

(Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—General recommendations on legislation to combat the cost of living, labor unrest, radicalism and readjustment of the nation to a peace time basis were features of President Wilson's annual message to congress delivered today. The peace treaty, the president told congress, will be discussed in a separate message later, as will the railroad question.

For the second time since the president established the practice of addressing congress in person, his message was read today by clerks. The president's recommendations included establishment of a budget system for national finances, reorganization of the taxation system with a simplification of income and excess profits. Readjustment of the tariff system if necessary to meet changed world conditions. Recognition and relief for veteran soldiers of the world war particularly in the way of government farms, as proposed by Secretary Lane, proper measures to foster the dye industry. An enlarged program for rural development in recognition of the farmers' part in the past, and measures that will "remove causes of political restlessness in our body politic" were also suggested.

At this point the president made the most extensive reference to the peace treaty by saying the "causes for unrest are superficial rather than deep seated" and that "they arise from or are connected with the failure on the part of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent peace permitting a return to normal conditions from the confusion of radical theories from seething European centers and pending each delay, from heartless profiteering resulting from increase of cost of living and lastly from machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators. With a return to normal conditions this unrest will disappear."

The president renewed his recommendation for legislation to deal effectively with "those persons who by violent methods would abrogate our time tested institutions." Several recommendations and some renewals of previous ones were made by the president to bring down the cost of living.

A long portion of the message was devoted to discussion of the condition and rights of labor. "Establishment of the principles regarding labor laid down by the covenant of the league of nations offers us the way to industrial peace. No other road lies open to us," the message said, and continued, "The right of individuals to strike is inviolate."

The message closed with a pointed reference to radicalism and red doctrines and referred to "Russia to day with blood and terror" as "a painful object lesson of the power of minorities."

H. C. FRICK DIES FROM PTOMAINES AT HIS HOME

(Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Henry Clay Frick, aged 69, died today. He suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning early in November and had almost recovered when complications developed.

The career of Henry Clay Frick was formed one of the most fascinating chapters in the romance of industry in the United States. At ten, a boy on a farm in a family of only ordinary means, he was, at sixty a man of so many millions that his fortune, like those of Carnegie and Rockefeller, was largely a matter of guess work even to himself. It has been said he was worth more than $100,000,000, perhaps as much as $200,000,000.

Mr. Frick built up the greatest coke business in the world. Through the Homestead strike of 1892 Mr. Frick came into national prominence. Differences had arisen between the Carnegie Steel company and its employees over a wage scale, culminating in a strike involving thousands of men the calling out of the national guard and the proclamation of martial law. It was at this period, July 22, 1892, that Alexander Berkman, a New York anarchist, tried to assassinate Mr. Frick. Berkman walked into Frick's office, drew a revolver and fired, the bullet lodging in Mr. Frick's neck. Mr. Frick was shot a second time and then he grasped with Berkman. During the encounter Mr. Frick was stabbed three times, but he downed his assailant and held him until the police arrived. Berkman was tried and sent to the West Virginia penitentiary in Pittsburgh for twenty years.

Thirteen days after the attack Mr. Frick walked to his office unaided and resumed the direction of the great strike which continued until November 21 of that year. Mr. Frick was unmoved by the violence the protests of the public or by the distress of the families of the strikers.

NEVADA PROFESSOR DIES OF APPENDICITIS

John G. McKinlay, associate professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Nevada, died Monday morning following an operation for appendicitis. He was taken ill last Tuesday and the appendix burst before he was operated on and little hope was held out for his recovery since Thursday.

McKinlay was a graduate of the university with the class of 1915. He went east following his graduation to take post graduate work in electrical engineering and returned in 1917 to become an instructor in mechanical and electrical engineering at the university, a position he held until the summer of 1918 when he enlisted in the navy and was made senior lieutenant in the radio service.

SLOT MACHINE CASES ARE DISMISSED

Ruling that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant an order for the destruction of the four slot machines complained against by the district attorney as being illegal, Justice Foster of Reno dismissed the cases. Justice Foster stated that although the evidence showed that the machines contained money and could be operated legally, he had no proof that they were being so operated.

(Associated Press.) NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.—Federal Circuit Judge H. Walker, granted today an order for the supersedeas of the United States district attorney putting a stop to liquor sales here under the injunction granted Wednesday by District Judge Foster.

MARIETTA BOOMING ON HIGHGRADE ORE

The famous old camp of Marietta, out seven miles southwest of Mina, has been the scene of much activity for the past three months and now the opinion of engineers who have visited the new workings is that the near future will see ore shipped which ranks with and above the highgrade taken out in the eighties. The production then under difficult condition is known to be around $3,000,000 and little or no attention paid to the lowgrade, although a large tonnage of ore of a value of $20 a ton and better was developed in the properties then in operation.

The name of the Endowment, Elephant, Foster, Bonax Smith, Black Hawk and others, recalls to the old-timers the exciting days which then existed there. At one time about 100 men were taking out fabulous fortunes from the grass roots and the camp had the reputation of being one of the roughest and wildest in existence.

As to the revival of the famous Marietta mine that has again come into the town which is now the headquarters of most of the companies and prospectors operating here. Last spring R. B. Shepherd, a reliable and well liked prospector of the old school picked up the company.

QUAKE DESTROYS SEVEN VILLAGES

(Associated Press.) LONDON, Dec. 2.—A serious earthquake occurred in western Asia today, seven villages being destroyed, according to cables from Constantinople. Many persons were killed and injured.

BIG SNOW STORM IS ON THE WAY

According to arrivals this morning from Reno, one of the worst storms is on its way to the south-east. At Reno it began snowing yesterday morning at 4 o'clock and continued all day. At Tonopah, south of Gardnerville, there was four feet on the level, two feet at Carson City and eight inches at Reno when the train left there. Snow continued to fall during the night as far as Schurz where the trainmen reported that they passed out of the storm.

Nearly a foot of snow fell at Truckee Sunday night and is still snowing heavily there. At Lake Tahoe eighteen inches of snow covered the ground and over a foot of snow was added to the fourteen inches on the ground at Summit, making over two feet of snow there with more coming.

Though the cattle have been moved from the higher ranges, cattle and sheepmen say that this snow will be of great benefit as it will furnish water for sheep still on the ranges and will also help the winter pastures everywhere. The ranges have been very dry in some localities and even on lower ranges in the valleys a water shortage for cattle has been reported.

(Associated Press.) CASPER, Wyo., Dec. 2.—William Carlisle, the train robber, escaped last night from a ranch house near Glendon, Wyo., by leaping through a window when sheriff's posse was about to enter to arrest him, according to a telegram received here. Carlisle is suffering from a wound in one hand and made no effort to hide his identity.

The posse lost Carlisle's trail in a heavy snow storm. Sheriff Routh, of Vernalis, said he expected to capture the bandit within a few hours.
